Harold Koenig, MD
Senior Partner

Harold M. Koenig, M.D. is a senior partner with Martin, Blanck & Associates, Inc., a consulting firm to the health care industry and health care information management and technology companies. Martin-Blanck provides critical assistance to the public and private sector clients focused on federal and state health care delivery systems and services. Martin-Blanck has grown to two dozen senior executive partners with expertise in health care policy, program development, management, informatics, and strategic planning.

Dr. Koenig joined Martin, Blanck & Associates after completing a four-year terms on advisory boards to the National Center for Environmental Health and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry at the Center for Disease Control and Prevention. He served for five years, until the company was sold in March 2007, on the board of directors of DefenseWeb, a San Diego based company that that delivers customized software solutions for federal health care, well being and family readiness organizations. In September 2007 he completed a term as president of the Society of Medical Consultants to the Armed Forces.

Dr. Koenig retired on June 30, 1998, as the Surgeon General of the Navy and Chief, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery with the permanent rank of Vice Admiral after a 32-year career in Navy Medicine. As Surgeon General he exercised day-to-day executive management and oversight of the entire Department of the Navy's medical policies, programs, and activities. Prior to serving as Navy Surgeon General he was assigned to the Office of the Secretary of Defense where he served as a Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs).

Dr. Koenig is currently the Chairman of the Board and President of The Annapolis Center for Science Based Public Policy; a non-profit foundation dedicated to promoting responsible environmental, health and safety decision-making. He is also the President of the Kensington-Talmadge Community Association.

Dr. Koenig currently serves on the following boards:

- The Vishnevskaya-Rostropovich Foundation whose mission is to improve the deplorable state of children's health care in Russia and other countries that were formerly part of the Soviet Union. Among its many achievements, the Foundation has immunized over 7 million children in these countries during the last decade.
- The Veteran's Village of San Diego that provides shelter and rehabilitation for homeless veterans with substance abuse problems that prevents them from working, caring for themselves and their families.
- The Scientific Steering and Advisory Committee of the Millennium Cohort Study at the DoD Center for Deployment Health Research, the largest prospective health project in military history, designed to evaluate the long-term health effects of military service.
- Two corporate boards in the medical device sector and one that provides consulting services to the government on IT architecture, Command and Control systems, Anti-terrorism, Special Operations, Military infrastructure and other key areas.

Dr. Koenig attended the U.S. Naval Academy, Brigham Young University and Baylor University College of Medicine. He is certified by the American Board of Pediatrics in general pediatrics and pediatric hematology-oncology, is a Diplomat of the American College of Healthcare Executives and received "The 1994 Federal Health Care Executive Award for Excellence" from the American Hospital Association.
